

Axial's vision is to connect those that run, buy, sell, and advise private companies. Our leadership brings combined experience in technology, financial services, and strategy to help grow our network and make more tools even more efficient for new and existing members. The Axial management team have previously held senior roles in companies like Google, Viggle, Trade Desk, AOL, TravelClick, The Gerson Lehrman Group, Bank of America, Bridgewater Associates, JP Morgan, and The Boston Consulting Group.

Peter is CEO of Axial, responsible for driving the company's vision to be the trusted platform where private companies connect with capital. Prior to Axial, Peter worked in private equity at SFW Capital Partners and was part of the founding team at Gerson Lehrman Group, where he helped build the company's dominant global technology platform for on-demand business expertise. He earned his undergraduate degree from the University of Virginia and received his MBA from Stanford Business School.
