

Nomad is much more than a brand name. It's our philosophy as a company and a team: owning fewer things, being resourceful and seeking adventure. And it is the very core of our product vision: creating minimalist, practical tools that keep us powered on the go. We develop all of our product concepts from the ground up. Materials selection is core to fulfilling our product promise of true portability, so we select the lightest, thinnest, strongest materials to suit our designs.