

Orion Labs is a San Francisco company dedicated to connecting people, organizations and machines through seamless voice communication without boundaries. Our voice platform delivers greater collaboration between individuals, groups and machines in real-time, anywhere in the world. Through our push-to-talk hardware and real-time voice platform, we deliver a heads-up and eyes-free experience to help people communicate more efficiently, without losing focus, for higher productivity. Orion Labs was founded by cloud infrastructure pioneers Jesse Robbins and Greg Albrecht, who were inspired by years of experience using traditional radio communications as firefighters and EMTs.