

Techstars is committed to having a meta-impact on diversity in tech startups through leadership on this important issue. Through our network of hundreds of companies and startup programs worldwide, we have a massive opportunity to influence this on a large scale.

We believe it is vitally important to address diversity and inclusion early — as company culture is being cultivated — and to weave it into the fabric of company identity. We are encouraging an entire generation of the best entrepreneurs around the world to take this issue seriously.